

Book Review

Murder in Florence: T.A. Williams

For pleasure, Marina's reading a Murder in Florence. This is book 3 in the series, and she's clearly hooked!

The writing style is really clear and accessible, which makes the whole experience super smooth. It's the kind of book where you tell yourself you'll read a chapter or two, and then suddenly you're way further in because it's so easy to keep going.

Florence feels so vivid and alive throughout the book – you can almost picture the streets, the atmosphere, and the little details that make it feel authentic.

If you like stories where the location plays a big role, this one really delivers.

The characters are also really enjoyable. Armstrong and Oscar make a great pair, and you actually care about what happens to them.

Of course, the mystery itself is what really keeps things interesting. The plot has some great twists, and I definitely didn't see everything coming. It keeps you guessing in that classic "whodunit" way, which makes it even more satisfying when things start to fall into place.

Overall, this is a really enjoyable cozy mystery with a great sense of place, likable characters, and a plot that keeps you hooked. Perfect if you're in the mood for something light, engaging, and a little bit of intrigue.

Marina Camilleri-Gorman Early Years Lead, Warden House School.

April 2026

"The more that you read, the more things you will know. The more that you learn, the more places you'll go." Dr Seuss